This accounted for their more rhetorical tone; and we may add for their reminding their hearers continually of their author s attempt to strike an equation between himself, a New Englander of 1845, or thereabouts, and the writers and poets, men of all time, of whom they treated. Indeed a considerable share of our interest in Lowell the critic lies in his power to range his vigorous modern spirit, charged with American humour, against the moods, prejudices, superstitions, ideas, and formulae of the past.
