

Affidavit of Sir F. Burdett Read in the Court of King's Bench, February 8, 1821, Before Lord Chief-Justice Abbott, and the Justices Bayley, Holroyd and Best, Previous to Their Passing a Sentence

By Francis Burdett

Rarebooksclub.com, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 246 x 189 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1821 edition. Excerpt: .has been withdrawn, of being considered fully absolved of the crimes which were alleged against her. But this right is now denied her: when no adjudication had been come to upon the bill, it is attempted to visit her with its severest penalties, in the same manner as if she had really been found guilty, and the bill had passed to final adjudication. Thus is she deprived of the advantages of this mode of proceeding which had been vainly promised to her, and especially of this important one--important not only to her Majesty, but to every one who hears me--that a person discharged from all accusation should no longer be considered as guilty (loud applause). When such attempts are making to pervert the result of the proceedings against her, and when further proceedings are meditated, will you sanction such a mockery of justice, and consent...

READ ONLINE

[8.26 MB]

Reviews

This ebook can be worthy of a read, and much better than other. I have read and i am certain that i am going to planning to go through again once again in the future. You may like just how the writer compose this book.

-- Mr. Grant Stanton PhD

A whole new eBook with an all new standpoint. It is actually rally fascinating throgh reading through time period. You wont truly feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for relating to when you request me).

-- Claire Bartell